FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Strata 3Dpro Gives Photon Power to Windows Users
Toon Rendering, Stochastic Raydiosity, Enhanced Deform Added

St. George, Utah, June 4, 2003 — Strata, the trail-blazing company dedicated to making it easy for designers to create high quality content, announced today the shipping of the Windows version Strata 3Dpro 3.8 for designers, illustrators and animators. This new version runs on Windows 98, Me and XP.

“We’re very proud of this release” stated Ken Bringham, Strata CEO. “Our team has worked hard to add several very important new features while making the product even more stable and accessible to power users.”

With the added power and flexibility of version 3.8 the possibilities are extended with:

- Photon light refraction and reflection
- Stochastic sampling for enhanced realism in Raydiosity™
- Toon rendering for quick, high quality cartoon images
- Enhanced deform for modeling and animation effects
- Jiggle enhancements for more realistic motion
- Power user features for streamlined workflow

According to Dave Winslow, freelance illustrator and designer, “Strata 3Dpro’s intuitive interface works just like my favorite Adobe applications to transform my vision into reality – in 3D! Strata’s rendering is the best in the industry and creates stunning images that exceed my clients’ expectations every time.”

Strata 3Dpro supports output in both pixels and true vector formats with JPEG, Flash, EPS, .ai (Illustrator native vector file) and QuickTime, among many more.

Strata 3Dpro 3.8 is also available for Apple’s OSX.
